

X11R7.1 is the first release to take specific advantage of the modularisation of the X Window System. This modularisation, which splits X into logically distinct modules, makes it easier for open source developers to contribute code to the system.

The XIRR7.1 release also features developmental modularisation, which makes it much easier for open source developers to contribute to it.

Epistrophe

repeating a word or words

in successive phrases

Epistrophe

repeating a word or words
in successive phrases

X11R7.1 is the first release to take specific advantage of the modularisation of the X Window System. This modularisation, which splits X into logically distinct modules, makes it easier for open source developers to contribute code to the system.

Prose rhythm
